The Insurgents Average a City

A LACONIC SURRENDER

Balmaceda is Strayed or Stolen—American Marines Assist in Preserving Order—President-elect Vienna Has Had Fighting Enough.

New York, Aug. 29.—A special from Valparaiso, Chile, to the Herald says:

Santiago has been a scene of a complete and quiet may be said to have been for many days have passed. After the crushing defeat which Balmaceda's forces met with at the hands of General Canales' troops on the night of this city yesterday and the subsequent entry of the conquering army into Valparaiso, the fate of the capital was on a question of time.

The insurgent leaders intended to make it a question of only a very short time, too, for active preparations were being made to send a force of men sufficient to overcome all possible opposition at Santiago as soon as the railroad could be repaired and arrangements made for the transportation of the troops.

At this was made unnecessary, however, for early this morning word was received from representatives of Balmaceda at the capital asking for a conference with a view to surrender. The request was granted and General Canales, who was former commander-in-chief of the Chilean army, was designated to act for the Congressionalists. A meeting was held at the terms of the surrender were arranged. To all intents the capital is now in possession of the junta, and within a few hours it will be actually in charge of their officers.

A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT.

A few days more the junta will form a provisional government, which they insist must be recognized as the only legitimate government of Chile, and the work of reorganizing and rebuilding the country can be proceeded with.

The insurgent fleet came into the bay this morning and found convenient anchorage. The sailors were greeted with a most enthusiastic reception. The "Junta de Gobierno" came in with the fleet and took charge of affairs immediately on his arrival. The first business to be transacted was for the formal capitulation of the city. The foreign ministers have had a general supervision of affairs in connection with the Junta. A conference was held at which were present Señor Montt, Señor Walker, Martínez, the foreign ministers, and the attorney-general.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER.

Señor Montt announced that the only terms he had to offer were unconditional surrender of the city and of all the officers and troops as prisoners of war. The junta had no terms to offer to civil officers and no prisoners to give.

These terms were perforce accepted, and Señor Walker Martínez was continued as intendant until the arrival of the junta from Valparaiso, when final arrangements will be made.

DISORDER IN THE CITY.

The behavior of the insurgent troops since their entry into the city has been most exemplary. Perfect discipline has been maintained, and officers and privates have endeavored to keep the unruly elements in order. This is next to impossible, however, as the town is crowded with disbanded soldiers and disorderly characters of all kinds. Many of them have visited yesterday's battle field and possessed themselves of rifles and ammunition. Fights and riots are of constant occurrence in the streets and several people have been killed by the rioters. Incendiary attempts are frequent and fears of a general conflagration are entertained. Strong patrols of soldiers are out through the streets constantly and the fire department and urban guards are on duty all the time. By their active work no serious outbreaks have occurred and as summary justice is meted out to men found looting or committing demonstrations, it is altogether probable that order will be secured and quiet reign before very long.

MAINTENANCE ON GUARD.

In the meantime a battalion of 100 marines and detachments from the United States ships, under command of Lieutenant Commander B. F. Alley, executive officer of the San Francisco, has been stationed at the American consulate and will look after American interests generally. Similar action has been taken by the other consulates and will act in concert if the occasion demands. This, however, is not regarded as likely.

Some of the English residents of the city caused the report to be spread this morning that Balmaceda was in hiding about the flagstaff San Francisco, and this made considerable harm being against the Americans here. The report was, of course, without foundation.

The insurgent leaders did not intend to waste any time in moving against Santiago. A most immediate victory is a victory, a force of men was put to work repairing the railway where it had been torn up, and orders were given for the concentration of no fighting stock here.

A division of 4000 men were sent to Vina del Mar to be in readiness to embark on the cars and start for Santiago at the earliest possible moment. They were under the command of General Baquedano. Now that Santiago has surrendered, it is probable that the number General Baquedano will take with him when he starts, perhaps tomorrow, will be reduced to a force just sufficient to preserve order.

The total number of killed on the government side is now given as 700 and of the opposition 200. It is impossible to learn the number of wounded.

VIENNA OWNS UP.

A saw Senator Don Concha in Vienna who was elected president to succeed Balmaceda and who is now a refugee on board the German cruiser Kaim, this morning. He acknowledged that the defeat of the government is final and that any further resistance would be simply a waste of force and destruction of life and property. This seems to be the general opinion among the adherents of the government here.

THEY SHOULD ADVISE.

Every possible effort is being made by the Congressionalists to discover the whereabouts of Balmaceda, but up to this time they have not succeeded in finding a trace of him. The impression is growing that the president and some of the officers of the fleet are making a possible escape to escape from the country by way of some passage in the Andes.

Admiral Brown, commander of the American navy forces here, Lieut. Geo. L. Dyer and Ensign Alonzo Gurley, of the Frigate San Francisco and a narrow escape from capture yesterday. They were making for their ship in their steam launch when the light for the possession of the harbor boat Amintre occurred. For a short time they were directly under fire from both the troops and the torpedo boat and their escape from injury was a most miraculous. Escape they did, however.

AN OFFICIAL DISPATCH.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The following cablegram was received at the State Department by Senator Montt, the envoy of the Chilean Congress at Washington.

Pedro Montt, Washington:

According to an official dispatch from Commander Montt of the congressional navy, forces in the battle of Concepcion, the enemy lost 500 men, and an equal number of prisoners were captured. Two thousand rifles were taken besides a number of field pieces. Our loss was 500. Among the killed were five officers. In the battle of Concepcion, the chief of Balmaceda was captured. Two generals, Barboza and Azarce, were killed and many other officers.

Vienna, the president-elect, has escaped on board foreign war vessel and the whereabouts of Balmaceda are unknown. The battle of Concepcion mentioned in the dispatch was the first battle fought after the landing of the congressional troops from the fleet, and the battle of Concepcion was the last battle fought prior to the capture of Valparaiso.

Señor Montt and no other news to communicate, and said if any further telegrams were received to-night, they would be sent on Saturday morning with dispatches containing his final plans and wishes.

AN UNNECESSARY CONSPIRACY.

London, Aug. 29.—Official dispatches received in Berlin and Paris confirm the announcement that the city of Valparaiso has been captured by the troops of the Congressional party of Chile.

RAILWAY GOSSIP.

New York, Aug. 30.—Important developments in the affairs of the Union Pacific Railroad are expected this week, says the Times.

A meeting of the recently appointed financing committee of which J. Pierpont Morgan is a member, will be held to-day or to-morrow in this city. It is probable that the outcome of the meeting is of greater significance than the mere putting into effect of the scheme for carrying the floating debt.

The rumors that the Vanderbilts are to take control of the property are received with a serious consideration in Wall Street, where J. Pierpont Morgan's close relations with the Vanderbilts are well known. It is well known that when the Gould-Dillon contingent first approached Mr. Morgan with a request for aid in straightening out the finances of the Union Pacific company, they met with a cordial reception. When finally Mr. Morgan consented to take charge of the scheme for temporary disposing of the $9,000,000 of floating debt, it transpired that the exacting concessions that practically put him in control of the property. As the story goes now, President Dillon will soon be succeeded by a man identified with the Vanderbilts and General manager S. E. E. Carr, Mr. Gould's first lieutenant, will also return to make room for a Vanderbilt man. Should these things come to pass, the St. Paul and Rock Island roads would come in for a close and friendly relations with the great Vanderbilt system, which would transfer surplus in extent any other railroad system of the east.

THE ATCHISON IS OUT.

Boston, Aug. 30.—It is given out here on good authority that the reported conflict between the Denver and Rio Grande between the Vanderbilts, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and Atchison has no basis in fact so far as the Atchison is concerned.

A Typhoon In Japan.

Vancouver, B. C.—By the steamer Empress of Japan which beat the Pacific ocean record by eight hours, news was received of a great typhoon in Japan that caused the loss of over two hundred lives. This typhoon struck the steamer on the evening of August 16, and lasted till the night of the following day.

Great damage to property and it resulted in a long the shore. It is believed the loss of life will be 250, mostly Japanese and Chinese sailors. The meteorological report says the typhoon was the most violent one visited the Orient for years.

A NEW TASTE

Manitou will have a Casino of her own.

FROM VENT CAP-A-S-S

Situated at the Iron Springs Hotel, which
Will be Remodeled—An Apartment
House, Hotel and Casino Combined.

Manitou is to have a casino. Ever since the Broadmoor Casino was opened it has drawn a considerable proportion of its patronage from the hotels. Everyone who came to the resort went at least once, and many went several times a week; but twenty miles is a long distance to travel, and so when the weather or roads were bad the Manitou people had to content the themselves with the amusements to be found about town.

Mr. Mason Leitch, Jr., who is a Chicago capitalist, is the son of the noted Chicago millionaire, and has been spending the summer in Manitowish and after carefully scouting over the ground, and studying the wonderful success at Brookwood, he decided that a casino in Manitowish would pay. He has interested with him Mr. J. B. Wheeler and Major Conn Edhert and the three gentlemen are now having plans prepared for the building.

The Manitowish casino will be located just west of the Iron Springs hotel, and the new casino improvements will include all of the best note with adjoining buildings. At the east end of the hotel will be an apartment house, five stories high, of stone. The casino will be of stone and the ultimate plan is to tear down the old frame building and make a grand stone hotel and casino building.

The casino will be three stories high with an elevation of 100 feet. The first floor will be the billiard parlors, bar, etc. There will be some play area and elegantly kept. On the second floor will be the grand concert hall and the above will be the grand concert of unusual merit. The casino will stand against a bluff, but the third floor will be on a level with the top of the rising ground and this floor will run back further than the others. Here will be situated the dining room and the sitenings, high in the air in front and so situated, behind, but supply wagons may drive to the doors to deliver their goods. There will be big verandas in front of play area, and the dining room will be extended into the open air. The view of the plains from the levee ground, at the iron springs is very fine and the panoramic view of the nation of sixty feet, the panorama of mountain and plain brought to view will be beautiful.

The grounds will be quite extensive and the amusements will probably include bowling, a cys, tennis and others of like nature.

The enterprise will be capitalized and the stock will be largely disposed of in Chicago.

The present improvements will cost approximately $50,000. Mr. Zeitz will remain in Manitowish, winter superintending its construction. It is hoped that the building may be opened, ready for business by June 1, 1902, and the promoters expect an immediate and well-paying patronage.

Mr. Wheeler has had the erection of a fine hotel in Manitou in contemplation for some years and has almost settled upon the site now occupied by the Barker and adjacent to the Passoivery, but has decided to join in the casino enterprise instead.

The location at the Iron Springs will be an excellent one from all points of view and the casino will probably have an appreciable effect in lengthening the season at Manitou.

Recognizing Cripple Creek.
The Cripple Creek mining district has already begun to attract outside attention. Passenger-Agent Charles Lee has issued the following circular to agents of the road:

To All Agents Colorado Midland Railway:

• Your attention is called to the new mining district known as Cripple Creek, which has lately been discovered in the vicinity of Florissant station on the line of this railroad.

The developments are made at Cripple Creek indicate that it is going to be quite an important mining district, and the mine can be reached via Florissant quicker than any other way, as we have lately succeeded in getting a stage line established between Florissant and Cripple Creek. The stage leaves Florissant daily except Sunday, about 1 p. m.; arrives at Florissant at 11 a. m.; fares $5.00 in each direction. Twenty pounds of baggage carried free.

The plans for the remodeling of the Mansions, Manitou, are almost complete, and work will be commenced soon after the hotel closes. The interior will require very much changing, but a handsome tower and more cozier will ornament the entrance at the west end. Saratoga Hall, the scene of hundreds of live shows, will be taken away, and in its place will stand a building on the lower floor of which will be the bowling alley, with a fine dancing hall above, this will prevent the danger of the rolling innumerable spheres from disturbing guests. The front of the hotel will be modernized, and the roof which shows distinct where each separate addition joins, will be straightened. The general style will be Queen Anne, with the same general effect as at the Manitou house.

enemy, and his companion with a hopefulness which of course he was much accustomed to assume. He could think of nothing but that his time would justify him. He understood the boat and took the waters in his hands
 when he moved almost close enough to touch Crossway at the point of one of his weapons. He would fight enemy in the presence of the woman to cast him off. He felt somewhat whether he or his adversary was right but he grew as he felt and swore himself that one or the other of them

"You are just for mine's dowry, the two waters being earnest, and wanted to get an idea how far the relation between Cassaway and the said one, Mrs. Vermorel was speaking by heaven, were tears in her eyes."

"You are very cruel, Captain," she said with tremulous lips, "the gases, and has been far more in occasion. They are enough so alarming. "You have told me that you said to throw over young fellow who loved me, and now you refuse to have turned upon me. I do not think that you are."

"Come, come, Yers, Verran-ye, y' know yot clik no care a rusa, or C'at was o'ay the for's money you were ter. You have to be so in effect frozen times."

"But I care very much for his money, you sim'le-eh," said the boy, with a turn toward her of spirit. "I've given the best of my of my regard, you by giving it at us when the you foot was in my power. Ah, for you, Catin, I want reading me now so a name

"What do you mean?" The lady suddenly changed color.

"I mean this woman. I have been suited off as a liar and a coward by centres, friends, and the sake
freeing him from your influence.
I know your history and Mrs. Vermie have been making investigations in your past life, and find you an accessory to the worst of crimes."
The face of Mrs. Vermie as the words were being said grew pale as candles can be made to. Crossway went back to where he had been sent and felt. She grew very tight and up-her dress, which was leaving pinholes in it, and Crossway started his up, and she gave a sorrowful jerk, a smile, a gasp for her courage, and quick as a flash was off to the captain. But, really caught under the wrist, with the anger from her hand and tramp in it, she bent her feet.

She stared first upon the ground and began to weep hysterically, and then she ran a quick review.

"You will save Fairfax in twenty-four hours, Mrs. Vermit," said Crossway in a firm and quiet tone.

She started over her feet with an angry countenance. "Will not," she cried vehemently.

"Very good," said he, "I will have you detected for forgery, and, in less than half an hour, you will be in jail. Come, and I will dine with you. You are a rather interesting woman, despite some slight propensities. But I must put you to your bed to rest, for further misadventure. You must go; come, my nearer neighbor, than New York." He will have you followed, and on the first breath I take you will be arrested. You see, you are also in my power."

"You are an impudent wretch!"

"I may be so, but I am a true friend, and you were not very smart enough to ruin your game. Mrs. Vermye, you ruin one good man out of you shall not ruin another." "Do you consent?"

"I cannot consent myself. But we must take care." "Do you will not consent?"

[illegible]

"There's nothing to be sorry about," said the man, "but I'm glad to hear you're all right. Now, if you don't mind, I'll go and get some more food for you. You'll need it, I think."

"The rest of us get fooled sometimes, particularly with women. Take care of Weber's advice, 'Beware of women.' How did you get your eyes opened?"

"I heard it a . . ." replied Simpson, looking down.

"You wouldn't have believed it, would you?"

"I had a pair of rapiers with me. I was going to force you to admit me, so I showed you out. What a confusion for me, was?"

"I see, poor dear! Don't grieve, my dear."

Heaven's sake, Cliza! I knew it would come right in the end. You're cured, aren't you? No more Mrs. Venus Xanax, hey? Well, well, — was often met self once and most as badly as you have been, and now eager to find out what this cure is. There, you're in some (C). So, you see, can feel for you my best. On my word, Cliza! That woman asked right training, hang me if I would, have cut you out in earnest. (Grazia, Grazia, have married her. She's got oral — plenty of 'em and a devilish little figure. But when she's a tarant! —

you see the eagle, or business?—
suggested she had something of a kind about her. "Wasn't it so; the eagle even meant it. And now we'll meet the peace with a good glass of whiskey. Come, try, drink to the health of Mrs. Vermilion, and she may have such a pleasant journey to New York."
Crossway lifted his friend in a jumpy
or the smoking liquor and drew a cork to the table. "It is not clean and grasp Crossway's outstretched hand. The two then looked at each other, and the two raised glasses and drank to Mrs.
Vermilion's health.
